SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 15, 1860.

SABBATH THEATRICALS.

Those who are not prevented by conventional or religious scruples and who can resolutely close their hearts to the profane and vulgar utterances of the "saintly actors" on the stage, may derive some good and not much harm from attending the Sabbath theatricals in the "Bowery."

Go early; take a seat as far as possible from the stand, and watch the poor, honest, hardworking, but deluded people come into their devotions.

Here they come, young and old and middle-aged—a great mass of people broken into little groups, each of which has some distinguished trait of the part of Europe that is fonder to it—little peculiarities of dress and manner, combining energies of sight, hold none unmoved and steady national pride.

Look round on the congregation. Here are the tollers; here are the wives, course and fine, and hoodlumized, moved by the action of one man's will for the accomplishment of one man's purposes. This assemblage, for so large a one, is remarkably well-ordered—all of a grade, to which habit soon becomes law. These people's thoughts follow each other's track like sheep, and it requires only one strong, daring impulse to start them.

They have somehow managed to possess themselves of the one idea that Mormonism is "straight and narrow way" to the Kingdom of Heaven, and follow it unquestionably.

Nothing is too extravagant to receive as support of this idea, a prejudice firmly rooted in such inactive minds may be propped by a shadow; yet it is almost impossible to tear it away from its hard clayey soil. They come here eagerly expectant for "the bread of life," and if they sometimes murmur at the hardness of their crust, they seldom refuse to swallow it. They toil unceasingly and are allowed to keep just enough of their earnings to support life and the ability to toil.

They are willing to work cheaply now in consideration of the great reward promised them hereafter. May be whom they serve so faithfully in this world, be able to pay them in the next, is our worst wish for the Mormon people. We consider their fanatic cult as dangerous because they yield their responsibility as human beings in accepting it, and make themselves mere tools to one who has proved himself wholly void of conscience and heart, by the use he has made of them. Any man who is capable of even a wish to ensnare his fellow beings for the purpose of self-aggrandizement, occupies a position exactly opposite and altogether antagonistic to Him of Nazareth, who gave all to the world and asked nothing.

Utah has an undoubted right to a place among the sisterhood of States which will never be ceded to its oppressor or his followers, as his or their independent domain.

The Mormon people have our permission to be slaves; slavery is their chosen lot, but not where the soil is consecrated to the idea of freedom.

Brigham Young may be a king, and their king if it so pleases them, but not on American soil and under an American flag—not while the nation has a true muscle in its arm or a drop of loyal blood in its bosom.

Chicago, Sept. 13.

European files give the following interesting intelligence:

The Paris Moniteur of Sept. 1st says the Emperor in accepting the cession of Venetia was guided by a desire of contributing to remove one of the principal causes of the late war, and to hasten the suppression of hostilities. As soon as a conclusion of peace was decided upon in Italy, the Government of His Majesty employed its efforts to prepare the way for the conclusion of a peace between the Cabinets of Vienna and Florence, and, as it was necessary to regulate the preliminaries of advances made to His Majesty, the Emperor Francis Joseph, a treaty to this effect was signed on the 24th of last month between France and Austria, and ratifications exchanged on the 21st of August.

The Herald's correspondent says Napoleon's health is very precarious and he cannot possibly live a year longer. He has much suffering from painful disorder the effect of juvenile excesses.

New York, Sept. 14.

A New Orleans special to the Times says the Chinese emigration agent has made contracts for the delivery of twenty thousand Celestial laborers here in time for the next year's crop.

Chicago, Sept. 14.

The leading topic of conversation in commercial circles in this city at the present time is the extraordinary demand which exists for wheat, and in consequence the price of number one, spring, rose in the market as high as $2.20 per bushel. From all parts of the East orders come pouring into Chicago for wheat, and with our moderate receipts it is difficult to fill them promptly. There is, however, an abundant harvest of excellent quality.

Gen. Grant is mortified that his Cincinnati remarks, addressed to the Committee who waited upon him in the theater box, should have been telegraphed over the country as if addressed to the whole crowd outside. He authorizes the statement, however, that he considers it incompatible with his duty as a soldier to take any part in politics, and being on the President's train by invitation, he has sought to shun any popular attention to himself, indeed such intentions have been distasteful. He furthermore says that whenever he shall take sides in politics, if ever he shall consider it his duty to resign from the army; but now the President is his Commander-in-Chief, and it is his duty to obey orders, and it is nobody's business to know whether he personally endorses the President's policy or not. This statement was revised by Grant and telegraphed by a correspondent of the President's train.

The Vienna Volksfreund, clerical organ, contains curious news, namely: That the Pope is to give up Rome as the Capital of Italy, preserving to himself the Vatican and St. Peter's, while Venetia is given over to the Papacy as temporal property; Austria reserving the right of garrison in the Quadrilateral and holding the port of Malamocco for her fleet.

In diplomatic circles in Berlin an immediate rapprochement is expected between the Courts of Berlin and Vienna. According to some accounts the initiative policy was taken by the King, but Count Bismarck is also, in favor of an alliance with Austria.

Vienna papers have sensational intelligence of the betrothal of the Prince Imperial of France with the oldest daughter of the Prince Royal of Prussia.

The exchange of the Austrian and Prussian peace treaty took place at Prague the 30th of August. The treaty would be published at Berlin and Vienna on Sept. 1st.

A Berlin dispatch says, the pending declarations of the adhesion having been received from all the States invited by Prussia, further preliminary steps are being everywhere taken for the actual completion of the North German Confederation.

The introduced peace treaty contains an article which stipulates that Prussia shall continue to pay all pensions granted by Austria to Holstein; that Austria shall pay to Prussia 450,000 Danish thalers, belonging to the Holstein finances; that the Holstein official meeting shall be called to account for reasons connected past events.

London, Sept. 13.

It is reported that the King of Saxony would abdicate in favor of his son. The preceding negotiations between Prussia and Saxony had led to the following results: the King of Dresden will have permanent possession exclusively composed of Saxon troops, but preserving to her the character of National Guard Regiments of the 18th century militia forces. Very important identifications are to be erected near Dresden which like all other military positions in Saxony will be under the command of the Prussian King, and Saxony will retain all her diplomatic representatives abroad, but Prussia will not object to his retaining the right of receiving foreign ministers at his court. The Saxon army will be marched into Prussia disarmed and disbanded, that portion of her soldiers who have only served their first three years will be incorporated with the Prussian army, while those who are serving the last three years of time (the term of service in Saxony is six years), will be released of further military service. An examination of Saxon Ministry will take place and the names of the Ministers will be communicated to the King of Prussia before they are definitely appointed.—Stockton Independent, Sept. 7th.

London, Sept. 13.

Having just completed our second Tunnel we are now prepared to furnish you in full quantity, without delay, of our Mine, known as the Johnson Mine, situated in Calville, Summit county, Utah, at four (4) dollars per ton. —T. J. McAllister, Sept. 10th.

London, Sept. 13.

The Herald's Berlin letter says these conditions were so distasteful that the King of Saxony had already on August 24th declared he would rather not resume his (g.v.n.) Bavaria had been kicking hard against the sacrifices of territory ceded, and at one time it almost appeared as if negotiations would be broken and hostilities renewed, but Prussia, sending her ambassador to Germany, has finally been arranged by Major Beaufort, relations, Prussia and Saxony gives up a strip of land in upper Franconia, besides having an annuity of $3,000,000 dollars.

The clean sweep made by Prussia in North Germany has struck terror into the hearts of many who dare as yet to hope annexation and who hanker to propitiate their King, and to do it in time. The King of Prussia will add a new and powerful weight to his ministry, viz: one for the King of Germany, and it is rumored that Baron Rosenthal, former minister of State and one of the principal members of the Progress Party, will be minister to Germany. The French Government has represented to Austria how difficult are the conclusions of peace, with the position of Italian, ministerial regard to the Garibaldians and the party in action, unless Austria should make some concession in her frontier. Austria consented tocede the northern bank of Sago de Garda. This position is important from strategical point of view and will moreover greatly tend to tranquillize the public mind in Italy. Russia intends convoking conference with all the German States including Austria, to discuss mutual arrangements of Garman railway system. After conclusion of peace between Austria and Italy the Emperor of Austria will officially recognize the kingdom of Italy, and will send embassies to Florence. The conditions made by Emperor Francis Joseph is, that the Italian Government will restore the private property of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, and the Duke of Modena, who are both Austrian Arch-Dukes. His Majesty also asks for the restoration of the private property of the King of Naples, but in cases of His Dukes the restoration is made a condition of recognition, while in the latter case it is only suggested as being the wish of Austria. The Pope has resolved to remain in Rome under any circumstances, which were commenced last year. Baron Reichenbach who is said to have declared that no negotiations shall be opened with the papal government before the evacuation of Rome by French troops. Since the Exodus on Octo to Aysburg, little has been heard of it. The corps diplomatic who had favored it dropped off one by one till none were left but the ambassadors of Russia and Belgium who have now been recalled by their respective courts.

The Herald's correspondent says Napoleon's health is very precarious and he cannot possibly live a year longer. He has much suffering from painful disorder the effect of juvenile excesses.

Local and Miscellaneous.

ESTIMATED A.W.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VENUE is the pioneer daily newspaper of Utah. Its immense circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, to which it gives the best geographical news, makes it the most valuable medium for advertising in this four corner territory. It is a well established newspaper.

O. J. GOLDREICH, Traveling Collector, has submitted his collection through the Pacific States and Territories.

JAMES M. THOMAS, Agent for the work. Apply to Mrs Gen P. E. Connor.

ANOTHER FIRE.—The fire at noon yesterday was started by the burning of a barn in the 15th Ward, the property of Mr. Eckel, which was entirely consumed, together with its contents, about 500 tons of hay.

In another column will be found the new advertisement of Henry W. Edes' Clock Establishment, St. Louis. This is one of the most extensive houses in St. Louis, and our merchants cannot do better than to give it their orders.

Our friend Fox of the Excelsior Guards was not so busy yesterday with the preparations for his grand entertainment next Monday evening, but that he had time to send us down a large basket of delicious pastries, for which we are duly grateful.

TODAY we publish a gem from the gifted pen of Miss Christopher. It is a sweet, beautiful song, dedicated to one of her musical friends, and could only come from the pure heart of a noble woman.

IDAHO ELECTION.—The official return for delegate to Congress from Idaho is as follows: Holbrook, 3,641; Kirkpatrick, 2,923. Majority for Holbrook.

BRIGHAM YOUNG, Gen. Wells, the hero of Echo Cañon, Gen. John T. Smith, Collector of Internal Revenue, Capt. Hooper and quite a number of Utah notables have just returned from a tour through the northern portion of the Territory. From conversation with gentlemen who listened to the speeches of some of the party and the letters of correspondents who were on the trip, we learn that the Gentiles East and West were handled without mercy. We presume they can stand it, however.

CATHOLIC SERVICE.—Rev. Father Kelly will officiate in Independence at 10 o'clock, Saturday morning, and at Camp Douglas at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

"WONDERFUL BUT TRUE."—Such is the heading of an eighth column advertisement sent us by Madame Gertrude Remington of Troy, N.
